

CALL FOR PAPERS

Perceptions: Journal of International Affairs

Special Issue, "ASEAN at Fifty – Regionalism, Institutionalization and Power"

Guest Editors:

Ceren Ergenc

Assistant Professor of International Relations
Middle East Technical University
cerenc@metu.edu.tr

Description

Perceptions is an international, refereed journal of international affairs with a wide-ranging reader portfolio including academia, students, policy makers, NGO members, diplomatic corps, journalists, managers and investors. The journal is published by the Strategic Research Center (SAM) of Turkish Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Abstracting / indexing

Columbia International Affairs Online, CSA Index, Gale-Cengage, Current Contents of Periodicals on the Middle East, EBSCO, European Sources Online, Index Islamicus, International Political Science Abstracts (IPSA), Lancaster Index to Defense & International Security Literature, PAIS Index, Pro Quest, Turkish Academic Network and Information Center (TÜBİTAK - ULAKBİM)

Theme

The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) was established fifty years ago. Enduring the political, economic, ideological and sociological challenges of the second half of the twentieth century, ASEAN, the oldest modern regional organization in Southeast Asia and broader East Asia, successfully witnessed the turn of the twenty-first century. At 50, ASEAN appears to be a formidable alternative to dominant regional institutional integration experiences. Relatedly, the scholarship on ASEAN constitutes a critical alternative to the mainstream International Relations (IR) literature. This special issue on ASEAN aims to review and assess the theoretical and methodological contributions ASEAN offers to academic study.

Subject Coverage

Coverage of this special issue of Perceptions includes, but is not limited to, the link between ASEAN and following subjects:

- Regional, transnational and global economic and financial systems
- Legal and normative frameworks, such as human rights regimes and (sustainable) development
- Conventional and unconventional security issues, such as transborder and maritime disputes, public health, environment, international terrorism, and migration
- Transnational issues, such as labor markets, diaspora movements, conflict resolution
- Great power relations
- Middle power and small power relations and foreign policy strategies

Notes for Authors

Papers, between 6000-8000 words, should be original achievements neither have been published nor submitted to elsewhere. All papers are subject to a peer review process. Further information on author guidelines, sample copies and peer review process is available in Guide for Authors at journal's web-page <http://sam.gov.tr/instructions-for-authors/>

Editors and Notes

Please send a copy of your manuscript in an MS Word file attachment by e-mail (details in Guide for Authors) to the guest editors (Email: cergenc@metu.edu.tr & pturk@etu.edu.tr) and do not hesitate to contact for any queries.

Important Dates

Abstracts: 24 May 2017

Full manuscript submission: 24 August 2017