

5 COMMON MISTAKES IN THAI E-VISA APPLICATIONS

ROYAL THAI CONSULATE-GENERAL,
CHENGDU

Submitting Visa Application to the Wrong Thai Visa Office

1

There are 10 Thai visa offices in China. Please submit your visa application to the correct office whose consular jurisdiction covers the place where your passport was issued. For non-Chinese passport holders, please refer to the place in China where your residence permit was granted.

The Royal Thai Consulate-General in Chengdu has jurisdiction over Sichuan and Chongqing

2

Incorrect Spelling of the Applicant's Name

Please ensure that the applicant's full name is spelled exactly as it appears in the passport.

 If your passport does not clearly separate a given name and surname, or if it contains only a single name, please use a hyphen (-) to indicate the separation.

 If there is no middle name shown on your passport (even if you personally use one), PLEASE leave the field blank.

Incorrect Passport Number

3

Please double-check that the passport number you provide is accurate and matches the one shown in your passport.

 Please make sure to clearly distinguish between English letters and numbers when entering your passport number. For example, avoid confusing the letter 'O' with the number '0', or the letter 'I' with the number '1'.

4

Biodata information

Please ensure that the passport date of issue and expiration date entered in the application form are correct and match the information shown in your passport.

Incorrect Supporting Documents

5

The submitted supporting documents do not match the required documents for the visa category applied for.

Kindly refer to the visa checklist for your visa category before submitting your application at www.thaievisa.go.th
